Both were arrested by Detectives Charles Kane and Albert Lehr following investigations into the theft of 30 cars in Philadelphia during the last six months, which led to the discovery, more than a week ago, of a garage in the vicinity of James and Bridge sts. in which, the detectives said, stolen cars were altered and repainted for resale.

Both men were charged with burglary, false pretense, larceny and conspiracy in connection with the theft and resale of automobiles.

TRAGEDY OF MASARYK

It really makes little difference whether Jan Masaryk, hero of Czechoslovakia, took his own life in despair over the fate of his country, or was "liquidated" by the agents of Moscow after the Communists took over.

Either way, he died a martyr to his faith in freedom and justice.

The United States has profound reasons for interest. Not merely because he was half American—on his mother's side—and had lived, worked, studied and married in this country.

Those facts are only incidental to another of far greater consequence.

That is that his death was owing, more than to any other single factor, to our betrayal. He is, or should be, a blot on our national conscience—one more, and only one more, though perhaps more striking than his predecessors, victim to the ruthless power-politics which has been our foreign policy for ten years or more.

Since individual tragedy is somehow more dramatic than mass tragedy, perhaps this new instance may do what none of the preceding ones has done: awaken the slumbering conscience of the American people.

Murder or suicide, Masaryk's death lies at Uncle Sam's door. We made promises to him and to his people. We didn't keep them. We traded him out. We were more interested in the "great experiment" of appeasing Russia than in keeping the word we gave, in that great tragic joke of the ages, the Atlantic Charter, to guarantee freedom and autonomy to the lesser nations of the earth.

Masaryk has gone. Many are waiting to join him—many more have gone before. We drifted into the war, in the pre-Pearl Harbor days, to rescue Poland and protect other small nations of East Europe from Hitler. Then, when we won the war, we threw them into the grasp of a still more terrible enemy of peace and freedom—Russia.

We broke our word to Poland, to Finland, to Latvia, to Estonia, to Lithuania, to Austria and Hungary and Roumania, to Yugoslavia, to the people of half of Germany, to Manchuria and Korea, and to a host of lesser national groups.

To all of these, we promised that, come victory, we would stand up to insist that they all should have the "Four Freedoms."

And then, at Yalta, we forgot our promise. Three men met there, representing the three great nations of the world—the hope of the ages for peace and justice. But each was interested only in his own special and selfish problems. Churchill was trying to clutch the slipping reins of his power in England. Roosevelt, sick to death, was blinded by visions which no man now can analyze. And the third was stern, cold, non-committal—playing a game in which the control of all the world was the stakes.

In the showdown at Yalta, no voice was raised for the rights of the lesser nations. Even at the world peace table, they were relegated to second place. That great war-breeding concept of the past, "zones of influence," was resurrected and disguised as a peace plan. The United Nations was created, not to liberate the weak, not to maintain justice, but to guarantee to the three great powers possession of whatever they chose to grab as spoils of war—and Stalin grabbed the most.

There is a space of time between the moment when a bullet leaves a gun and the second it strikes its mark. The time is greater for a bow and arrow. In the workings of history, months

PRIZES TO BE GIVEN

TREVOSE, Mar. 13.—"Mexico on Parade" will be the title of a sound and color film to be presented by Edward V. Fricker, at the meeting of Trevose Horticultural Society on Tuesday, March 16th, in the community building.

Douglas Earl, of Montgomery County, will give a "homey" talk on "One Glorious Garden."

The little show committee of which Mrs. John W. Davis is chairman, has prepared the following classes:

1. "Heralds of Spring" an arrangement of forced shrubs.
2. A flowering house plant.
3. Forced spring bulbs.
4. Any plant growing in water.

A few prizes are scheduled for the above arrangements, and also some attendance prizes.

Members of the association have been reminded by officials of the society that now is the time to take branches of early flowering shrubs and trees into the house for forcing. "Cut branches on a bright sunny day, soak overnight in a bathtub of tepid water, keep in a cool room until buds are well formed, then arrange. Slow forcing is important, and too much heat fatal," it is stated.

TRAFFIC ARRESTS INCREASED IN '47

Exceeding Speed Limits
Leads the List of Charges Preferred

STATE POLICE ACTIVE

HARRISBURG, Mar. 13.—The Pennsylvania State Police made 68,300 arrests for highway violations in 1947 as compared with 54,160 in the previous year, according to a report issued today.

Leading the list in 1947 as in 1946 was exceeding speed limitations for which 13,568 arrests were made last year while 10,724 were apprehended for the same violation in 1946. In the second and third place in 1947 and 1946 were "stop" sign violations and improper passing. The former accounted for 11,820 arrests in 1947 and 9,120 during 1946. Arrests for improper passing in 1947 totaled 6,846 with 5,768 being apprehended for the same violation in 1946.

Arrests for other violations in 1947 included: reckless driving, 5,464; exceeding weight restrictions, 4,815; operating without operator's license, 4,742; operating vehicle not properly inspected, 3,835; improper or no registration, 1,399; failure to drive on right side of highway, 1,363; failure to yield right of way, 1,313; failure to yield one-half of highway, 1,032; parking on highway, 571; operating while intoxicated, 694; permitting violation of motor vehicle code, 523; violation of learner's permit requirements, 457; misuse of license plates, 436; and 9,161 arrests made for miscellaneous violations.

"It is unfortunate that arrests are necessary to impress upon certain thoughtless drivers their responsibility toward others," said Colonel C. M. Wilhelm, State Police Commissioner, in commenting on the increase in the number of arrests. "They are made necessary by the carelessness of that small group which represents less than 10% of all drivers. Arrests will continue to increase until this selfish minority realizes the importance of living safely with others on the highway."

Gottwald hurled his charges into the still, solemn atmosphere of the Pantheon in the Czech National Museum before a hushed, mournful audience of the nation's leaders and the international diplomatic corps. Ambassadors of the Western nations heard his attack in silence.

PHILA. POLICE ARREST 2 IN AUTO THEFT RING

Brother of Stephen Wyjadka is One of Pair Now Under Arrest

GET HEARING TODAY

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 13.—Another step was taken yesterday by the police to smash an alleged automobile theft ring when two men were taken into custody. It is alleged that the ring has stolen more than 100 cars in Eastern Penna. and New Jersey during the past year.

The two were named as Benjamin Wyjadka, 29, of James near Bridge sts., and John Smollock, 19, of Melrose st. near Buckleys. They will be arraigned for hearing this morning before Magistrate John F. Daly, in Central Police Court, City Hall.

Both were arrested by Detectives Charles Kane and Albert Lehr following investigations into the theft of 30 cars in Philadelphia during the last six months, which led to the discovery, more than a week ago, of a garage in the vicinity of James and Bridge sts. in which, the detectives said, stolen cars were altered and repainted for resale.

Both men were charged with burglary, false pretense, larceny and conspiracy in connection with the theft and resale of automobiles.

The garage near Bridge and James sts. was raided on information provided by Newark, N. J., police who arrested the garage owner. The owner, Stephen Wyjadka, 29, brother of Benjamin, has since been returned to this city and held in Moyamensing Prison in default of $5000 bail for further hearing next Wednesday.

Three stolen automobiles, police said, were found in the garage. At the same time, they said, they recovered another stolen automobile on a used car lot in N. Broad street.

Stephen Wyjadka was convicted on automobile theft charges in the Bucks County Court, in Doylestown. He was at liberty in bail at the time the Newark authorities arrested him.

TRAGEDY OF MASARYK

It really makes little difference whether Jan Masaryk, hero of Czechoslovakia, took his own life in despair over the fate of his country, or was "liquidated" by the agents of Moscow after the Communists took over.

Either way, he died a martyr to his faith in freedom and justice.

The United States has profound reasons for interest. Not merely because he was half American—on his mother's side—and had lived, worked, studied and married in this country.

Those facts are only incidental to another of far greater consequence. That is that his death was owing, more than to any other single factor, to our betrayal. He is, or should be, a blot on our national conscience—one more, and only one more, though perhaps more striking than his predecessors, victim to the ruthless power-politics which has been our foreign policy for ten years or more.

Since individual tragedy is somehow more dramatic than mass tragedy, perhaps this new instance may do what none of the preceding ones has done: awaken the slumbering conscience of the American people.

Murder or suicide, Masaryk's death lies at Uncle Sam's door. We made promises to him and to his people. We didn't keep them. We traded him out. We were more interested in the "great experiment" of appeasing Russia than in keeping the word we gave, in that great tragic joke of the ages, the Atlantic Charter, to guarantee freedom and autonomy to the lesser nations of the earth.

Masaryk has gone. Many are waiting to join him—many more have gone before. We drifted into the war, in the pre-Pearl Harbor days, to rescue Poland and protect other small nations of East Europe from Hitler. Then, when we won the war, we threw them into the grasp of a still more terrible enemy of peace and freedom—Russia.

We broke our word to Poland, to Finland, to Latvia, to Estonia, to Lithuania, to Austria and Hungary and Roumania, to Yugoslavia, to the people of half of Germany, to Manchuria and Korea, and to a host of lesser national groups.

To all of these, we promised that, come victory, we would stand up to insist that they all should have the "Four Freedoms." And then, at Yalta, we forgot our promise. Three men met there, representing the three great nations of the world—the hope of the ages for peace and justice. But each was interested only in his own special and selfish problems. Churchill was trying to clutch the slipping reins of his power in England. Roosevelt, sick to death, was blinded by visions which no man now can analyze. And the third was stern, cold, non-committal—playing a game in which the control of all the world was the stakes.

In the showdown at Yalta, no voice was raised for the rights of the lesser nations. Even at the world peace table, they were relegated to second place. That great war-breeding concept of the past, "zones of influence," was resurrected and disguised as a peace plan. The United Nations was created, not to liberate the weak, not to maintain justice, but to guarantee to the three great powers possession of whatever they chose to grab as spoils of war—and Stalin grabbed the most.

There is a space of time between the moment when a bullet leaves a gun and the second it strikes its mark. The time is greater for a bow and arrow. In the workings of history, months

 3. Forced spring bulbs.
 4. Any plant growing in water.
- A few prizes are scheduled for the above arrangements, and also some attendance prizes.
- Members of the association have been reminded by officials of the society that now is the time to take branches of early flowering shrubs and trees into the house for forcing. Believe Communists Preparing French Miners' Strike

Paris.—Fears that the Communists are preparing a general strike by miners in France were expressed today when 18,000 coal miners walked away from their jobs. The DeGaulle newspaper Paris-Press declared, "A general strike now threatens in the mines." The moderate L'Intransigeant estimated the number of strikers at 30,000 and said that they "blindly obeyed the orders of the CGT, Communist-led general labor confederation."

Partial Returns Indicate Peron Victory

Buenos Aires.—Partial returns from Sunday's national elections in Argentina indicate today a sweeping victory for President Juan D. Peron. The returns show Peron is already guaranteed a two-thirds majority in the Chamber of Deputies.

Five-Power Pact To Be Signed Wednesday

Paris.—A French Press Agency report from Brussels said today that the five-power "Western Union" pact will be signed next Wednesday, at noon, EST. The dispatch said that the foreign ministers of France, Britain, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg will sign for their respective countries in Brussels. The treaty established broad political, military and economic agreements among the five powers aimed at stopping the spread of Communism.

Masaryk Services Turned Into Bitter Political Tirade

Prague.—Funeral services for Jan Masaryk were turned by Communist Premier Klement Gottwald into the occasion for a bitter political tirade against the Western powers today. In a funeral oration delivered over Masaryk's body, Gottwald charged that it was Western attacks on him that drove the non-partisan foreign minister to leap from the window of his apartment to his death. Gottwald hurled his charges into the still, solemn atmosphere of the Pantheon in the Czech National Museum. Before a hushed, mournful audience of the nation's leaders and the international diplomatic corps, Ambassadors of the Western nations heard his attack in silence.

COUPLE ENTERS SUIT FOR $30,000 FOR AUTO CRASH

Mr. and Mrs. Willard M. Keys Name J. Fred Westerman Defendant

OCCURRED IN 1946

Two Other Suits Are Filed In Court of Common Pleas

DOYLESTOWN, March 13.—A Morrisville couple is suing for $30,000 and the suit has been filed in the Bucks County court here.

With the one complainant, Willard M. Keys, of Morrisville, asking $5,000, and his wife, Elsie N. Keys hoping to recover $25,000, a Mercer county, New Jersey motorist, J. Fred Westerman, of Trenton, has been named the defendant, in an action in trespass. The defendant is employed in a Morrisville rubber works.

The automobile accident in which the two complainants and defendant figured took place September 6, 1946, on West Franklin street, near Harper, in Morrisville.

Two other suits, one in which a Ridge road, near Sellersville, husband, who is AWOL from the Army, has been sued for divorce; another in which a Sellersville R. D. husband is seeking his freedom.

Robert W. Funk, Ridge road, RD, who was last seen by his wife when he visited her while on furlough January 25, 1944, has been named the respondent in divorce libel by Helen V. Funk, Ridge road, RD. They were married December 23, 1929, at Summerville by Rev. Umstead.

The libellant avers that August 30, 1943, her husband entered the Army. Prior to being sent overseas to serve in the ETO, he visited his wife in January, 1944. Since that time he has been AWOL from the Army and she has no idea where he is or of his present whereabouts. She named the desertion date as June 5, 1946.

Robert Richard Bastian, Sellersville, RD 1, has named his wife, Doris Jean Snedeker Bastian, Cannons avenue, Lansdale, the respondent in a divorce libel. They were married March 29, 1941, by Rev. Norman Y. Ritter, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Perkasie. They separated October 17, 1946. The libellant served in the Army from January, 1941, to September, 1946.

Wants Members Support For Protective Ass'n

WASHINGTON CROSSING, Mar. 13.—At the directors meeting of the Delaware Valley Protective Association held at the Washington Crossing Park office, an extensive report was made by Mrs. Edgar Westberg, of Yardley, chairman of the membership committee, as to proposed activities of her committee in the membership drive. Mrs. Westberg asked for help from all directors and members in the Valley in this drive. As this program is so closely aligned with the publicity committee which is co-operating in this drive, the chairman of that committee, William H. Fulper gave several important suggestions which were taken from his practical experience. W. Francis Taylor, of Lumberville, also spoke of various past procedures which proved successful.

There were three of the newly-elected directors present, Mrs. George J. Gabriel, of Titusville, N. J., Mr. Herman Zettler, Washington Crossing; and William H. Fulper, Yardley.

At the special executive meeting which was held before the regular meeting, several changes in the committee members were made, and directors and officers will be notified of these changes.

With the Conservation Council of Pennsylvania the Delaware Valley Protective Association is sponsoring the Pennsylvania Canal Garden Contest for 1948, which is open to all residents along the canal. Details of the contest may be obtained from Mrs. Durrell L. Noyes, of Newtown. The association is also co-operating with the Pennsylvania Roadside council in promoting the Blue Star Memorial Hi-way. Michael Rapano, Newtown, gave information along the lines of work being done on the Memorial Hi-ways in New Jersey and New York.

Here's a pre-Easter suggestion from the State Police: Whatever the kind of look you wear this season—be smart—be careful—and be sure you don't wear an injured look. Remember, safe habits are always in style.

LOTS OF FUN

Judging by the oral calisthenics currently being engaged in, there is no dearth of campaign material, but the GOP is going to have more, or know the reason why. They have just run through Congress, over the furious protest of the Democrats, a little requisition of $170,000 which will be used by a subcommittee to investigate the Truman administration.

They will throw out their fishing lines in the waters of the Department of Justice with particular alacrity.

In the campaign of 1946, President Truman, angry at Slaughter, Congressman of his home district in Missouri, backed another Democrat against him in the primaries and defeated him. The purge was accompanied by the usual fraudulent voting of the Pendergast machine.* Investigation disclosed that an army of Kansas City ghosts had walked to the polls to assist in the President's revenge.

The Republican Congress attempted to get Attorney General Tom Clark to stage a full-fledged federal inquiry into the matter, but he wouldn't touch it with a 10-foot pole. Now Congress is determined to learn why Clark shied away.

If nothing specific is unearthed, plenty of suspicious circumstances will be revealed at which campaign spellbinders can point oratorical fingers. There is no longer doubt that this campaign will be vastly entertaining, and every citizen has a ticket of admission without a nuisance tax.

Except, of course, whatever nuisance there is in the $40,000-000,000 of annual federal taxes the citizens pay.

LATER THAN MUNICH

The nations of Western Europe, since the blackout of Czechoslovakia, are showing they know what time it is; it is later than Munich. Already they have begun to unite—as they never did against Hitler—to be ready to stop Russia or to fight her.

Two conferences which have already reached the "agreement in principle" stage show this new determination. The same five nations took part in both: Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg met in Brussels and decided on a treaty of common defense and military strategy and economic coordination.

This treaty may become the nucleus of a Western European union that would be strong enough to stand up to the united Communist bloc.

Meanwhile, in London, the same powers were meeting with the United States to discuss Germany and the Ruhr. In this conference, Ambassador Douglas reports, more progress is made in 10 days than in the preceding three years.

That is true, and there are two reasons for it. First, these were conferences without Russia. Second, they were held by nations feeling a new sense of urgency—a determination to stand together against the common danger.

LOTS OF FUN

Judging by the oral calisthenics currently being engaged in, there is no dearth of campaign material, but the GOP is going to have more, or know the reason why.
They have just run through Congress, over the furious protest of the Democrats, a little requisition of $170,000 which will be used by a subcommittee to investigate the Truman administration.

They will throw out their fishing lines in the waters of the Department of Justice with particular alacrity.

In the campaign of 1946, President Truman, angry at Slaughter, Congressman of his home district in Missouri, backed another Democrat against him in the primaries and defeated him. The purge was accompanied by the usual fraudulent voting of the Pendegast machine. Investigation disclosed that an army of Kansas City ghosts had walked to the polls to assist in the President's revenge.

The Republican Congress attempted to get Attorney General Tom Clark to stage a full-fledged federal inquiry into the matter, but he wouldn't touch it with a 10-foot pole. Now Congress is determined to learn why Clark shied away.

If nothing specific is unearthed, plenty of suspicious circumstances will be revealed at which campaign spellbinders can point oratorical fingers. There is no longer doubt that this campaign will be vastly entertaining, and every citizen has a ticket of admission without a nuisance tax.

Except, of course, whatever nuisance there is in the $40,000-000,000 of annual federal taxes the citizens pay.

LATER THAN MUNICH

The nations of Western Europe, since the blackout of Czechoslovakia, are showing they know what time it is: It is later than Munich. Already they have begun to unite—as they never did against Hitler—to be ready to stop Russia or to fight her.

Two conferences which have already reached the "agreement in principle" stage show this new determination. The same five nations took part in both, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg met in Brussels and decided on a treaty of common defense and military strategy and economic coordination.

This treaty may become the nucleus of a Western European union that would be strong enough to stand up to the united Communist bloc.

Meanwhile, in London, the same powers were meeting with the United States to discuss Germany and the Ruhr. In this conference, Ambassador Douglas reports, more progress is made in 10 days than in the preceding three years.

That is true, and there are two reasons for it. First, these were conferences without Russia.
Second, they were held by nations feeling a new sense of urgency—a determination to stand together against the common danger.

Tragedy of Masaryk

and years may elapse between the critical event and its fatal effects.

What killed Masaryk were forces set loose at Yalta; perhaps even before then, at that mysterious conference whose full story has never been told, Teheran.

Czechoslovakia's fate was sealed when President Truman at Potsdam ratified Russian possession of eastern Germany, to the north of Czechoslovakia; and when Austria, Hungary and Rumania, to the south, were conceded by Roosevelt to be necessary buffer states for Russia, and therefore to be within the Communists' sphere of influence.

The Czechs have since then been a misplaced wedge into the Red front. That Russia would iron out this salient, at her convenience, has been inevitable.

Likewise inevitable is it that Finland, where Roosevelt agreed to let Russia set up a brutal and punishing economic tyranny, will eventually be absorbed into the Soviet Union unless the whole trend is reversed.

The time to have shed the tears was when the real disasters fell, back in 1945; not today, as the victims die one by one.
But at that day, an army of government press-agents and their stooges were busy drowning out all protesting voices with praise for the defective, unjust program ratified at San Francisco.

We went into this with our eyes open. Every school child should have known we were breaking our covenants in the appeasement of Russia. And every school child knew, too, that we were then at the very height of our military strength—nine million men under arms, our military production potential on the homefront at its very peak.

We were suffering, during that period, from a species of moral decay in which it was easier for us to pretend everything was right than to stand up and fight for a principle.

Perhaps we were deluded—perhaps we deluded ourselves.
But we didn't fool the implacable workings of destiny.
The peoples of large nations, too great to be the mere play-things of their neighbors, usually get just about what they deserve, both in their own government at home, and in their relations with the world about them.

Before we can have stability at home, before we can have peace and justice in the world, we shall have to prove by our national acts that we merit them.

If the death of Masaryk can but awaken the people of this nation to that profound truth, then he shall not have died in vain.

SEMI-FINALS IN PLAYOFFS TO TAKE PLACE TONIGHT

The semi-final game of the playoffs of the Bristol Basketball League will be played tonight on the high school court with the Knights of Columbus team meeting the Fifth Ward Sporting Club. The Profy team, which draw a bye by winning the season's championship, will play the first game of the night, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

The opponents for the Profy team will be the Hoopers, of the Morrisville VFW League. Profy, defending champions of the Bristol circuit, won the regular season's crown after a poor start.

Pineville Grangers Pay A Visit at Langhorne

LANGHORNE, March 13 — Middletown Grange had as visitors on Wednesday evening 18 members of Pineville Grange. The guests presented the travelling gavel when they arrived at the community house, here.

The presentation was made by Hammond Coles, master of the visiting Grange, and as he handed it to Charles D. Lowmes, master of Middletown Grange, which had 34 representatives at the meeting, said: "This travelling gavel is a symbol of brotherly co-operation, and if we work for peace as much as we work for war, we will create more of this type of friendliness throughout the world." Mr. Coles also gave a brief history of the gavel, which had its origin with Middletown Grange some years ago.

Prior to the program, which was in charge of Miss Margaret R. Slack, lecturer of Pineville Grange, the host organization held a brief business session, during which the home economics committee announced that Miss Flora Mae Sagi, the county home economics representative, will meet with the women of the Grange at the home of Mrs. Harrison Yoder on March 23 to teach them how to make slip covers.

Announcement was made that the Grange will observe its 72nd anniversary by serving a supper in Educational Hall of Newtown Presbyterian Church on March 18. An appropriate program will be presented.

Miss Slack read the theme song of the Pineville Grange, and Mrs. John Root gave several humorous readings. An illustrated talk on soil conservation by means of contour and strip farming was given by Russell Smith.

NYLON PARACHUTE

WASHINGTON, D. C. (INS) — A new nylon parachute, which is larger, safer and more efficient than the present Navy model, has been ordered to replace the standard parachute used in Naval aviation for 25 years. Made of "rip-stop" nylon, a waffle-weave material fashioned with heavy cross threads at quarter-inch intervals to help prevent tearing, the new parachute has a 28-foot diameter, four feet more than the present model. Tests have shown that the new parachute lessens the opening shock received by the pilot, provides a slower rate of descent, and gives added safety in high-speed bail-outs.

IT'S A PUP'S LIFE

ITHACA (INS) — To a puppy, the best things of life are free — most of the time. A small pooch in the business section of Ithaca met temptation and succumbed to it. The temptation was a row of boots and overshoes in the entrance to a shoe store. The puppy chose a succulent rubber boot, pulled it off the rack, and lay down to worry it. But a passerby interfered and the tasty rubber "cost" the miscreant pup a slap on the backside.

Pineville Grangers Pay
A Visit at Langhorne

LANGHORNE, March 13 — Mid dietown Grange had as visitors on Wednesday evening 18 members of Pineville Grange. The guests presented the travelling gavel when they arrived at the community house, here.

The presentation was made by Hammond Coles, master of the visiting Grange, and as he handed it to Charles D. Lowmes, master of Middletown Grange, which had 34 representatives at the meeting, said: "This travelling gavel is a symbol of brotherly co-operation, and if we work for peace as much as we work for war, we will create more of this type of friendliness throughout the world." Mr. Coles also gave a brief history of the gavel, which had its origin with Middletown Grange some years ago.

Prior to the program, which was in charge of Miss Margaret R. Slack, lecturer of Pineville Grange, the host organization held a brief business session, during which the home economics committee announced that Miss Flora Mae Sagul, the county home economics representative, will meet with the women of the Grange at the home of Mrs. Harrison Yoder on March 23 to teach them how to make slip covers.

Announcement was made that the Grange will observe its 72nd anniversary by serving a supper in Educational Hall of Newtown Presbyterian Church on March 18. An appropriate program will be presented.

Miss Slack read the theme song of the Pineville Grange, and Mrs. John Root gave several humorous readings. An illustrated talk on soil conservation by means of contour and strip farming was given by Russell Smith.

NYLON PARACHUTE

WASHINGTON, D. C. (INS) — A new nylon parachute, which is larger, safer and more efficient than the present Navy model, has been ordered to replace the standard parachute used in Naval aviation for 25 years. Made of "rip-stop" nylon, a waffle-weave material fashioned with heavy cross threads at quarter-inch intervals to help prevent tearing, the new parachute has a 28-foot diameter, four feet more than the present model. Tests have shown that the new parachute has a 28-foot diameter, four feet more than the present model. Tests have shown that the new parachute lessens the opening shock received by the pilot, provides a slower rate of descent, and gives added safety in high-speed bail-outs.

IT'S A PUP'S LIFE

ITHACA (INS) — To a puppy, the best things of life are free — most of the time. A small pooch in the business section of Ithaca met temptation and succumbed to it. The temptation was a row of boots and overshoes in the entrance to a shoe store. The puppy chose a succulent rubber boot, pulled it off the rack, and lay down to worry it. But a passerby interfered and the tasty rubber "cost" the miscreant pup a slap on the backside.

Sale-goers took time out Wednesday to attend an auction of farm implements, crops and livestock on the property of John Ulmer on Swamp road near Newtown.

When Auctioneer E. Newlin Brown, Doylestown, took the block, he was faced by at least 600 persons, who had parked 275 automobiles at every available spot they could find.

Attracting special interest were a mechanical corn picker and a tractor. The former sold for $710 and the latter for $1400. Little difficulty was found in disposing of a truck for $800 and a side delivery rake for $150. A milk cooler went under the hammer for $100, a mowing machine for $115 and a silo for $92.50.
